

THE 2016 LUSH PRIZE

SUPPORTING ANIMAL-FREE TESTING

Are you campaigning to end animal testing?

The Lush Prize is the largest annual prize fund supporting the complete replacement of animal testing, through rewarding scientists, campaigners and lobbyists.

Nominations for Lush Prize 2016 are now open (the deadline is 24 July).

- Any organisation/individual creating public awareness to highlight issues of animal testing, particularly in the area of toxicology, may be eligible.
- The Lush Prize specifically rewards projects that support 1R (absolute replacement of animal tests).
- Nominees need to show evidence of impact over the past 18 months from their work.
- Nominations are easy to submit and are done so via the Lush Prize website www.lushprize.org

More details of the Public Awareness Prize, and of previous winners, can be found at <http://www.lushprize.org/awards/public-awareness/>

For more information contact craig@lushprize.org

£190,000
already awarded to nine organisations in eight countries campaigning to end animal testing

Follow us on social media:

Facebook: Lush Prize Fund / Twitter: Lush Prize / LinkedIn: Lush Prize (Company)